“ Hey I miss you. Do you remember when I used to come on weekends to Whispering Pines and look through the book of pictures of family we made so you could remember everyone? I am divorced now. Dad and I don't talk either. And I am going to NYU to be an English teacher like you. I miss you all the time, but I'm so glad you didn't have to be in the pandemic where I couldn't ever see you. Every day I think about you because you were the only person in the family who understood me and now I'm so sad and lonely. And remember when you couldn't remember anything so we would just sit quietly or watch tv or lay in bed until you fell asleep? Probably not. Oh well. I love you even though you are dead. It's funny because being dead isn't scary. Like there was a time before now where I wasn't alive, and I don't look back on that with fear. It's the act of dying that is so horrifying. And that's why I'm so glad you died in your sleep. I know I already said this but this is just a stream of consciousness so I'll just tell you again that I love you and maybe I'll talk to you later but maybe I won't and either way is fine but right now when I'm alive and can't it's hard.

“ Dear Family,

Please accept my sincere condolences on the loss of your dear family member. Our Loving Heavenly Father has promised to restore to life "all those in the Memorial tombs." (John 5:28,29) May this promise comfort you.

“ There's not enough room to share all the wonderful memories that Jacque left behind. Her legacy of kindness and generosity will be paid forward by all of us whose lives were affected and made better, simply by knowing her. I treasure the years we were friends and know in my heart that we will see each other again one day. Sending prayers to her entire family. I will miss you, my friend...

“ Jacqueline was such a kind beautiful woman. Shined her light for all the world to see how much she loved her family and Heavenly Father. Not a year went by that she didn't mail me the sweetest birthday card . I will cherish them always . She was my introduction the the Amaus community . I know she is in heaven with some very dear friends and family . Pray for all to have deep peace and understanding .
Love to all
