“ Mark, the last thing you told me was that you would always be here for me if I needed you. You were always like my big brother. You had my back, made me laugh and were my most favorite marine that ever lived! Please know that now, I'll be here for your mom and your family if they ever need me. I love you Chrissy! And I'm praying for you. And Mark, I love you and look forward to a big hug when we meet again!

“ Dear Chrissy and Family.

I cannot begin to express how heart broken I am for the loss of Mark. Chrissy, you raised a very fine, Christian gentleman and I know you are so proud of him and his accomplishments. As I read the posts on his FB wall, most were of how kind, respectable, and nice he was and the admiration of so many people who's lives he touched, especially from his family. What a testimony he has and I am so honored to have him as my friend. We chatted not long ago and it was still yes ma'am this, yes ma'am that. Such chivalry isn't found in a lot of young men today. Being a mother of an only child, I can only imagine the emptiness you are feeling. With God's love and the love and support of family, you will heal in time. I love you Chrissy and all your family. I am praying for you all during this difficult time. God bless you all.

*Love & Prayers,
Angie*

“ Chrissy, Ronnie,

There are not many words that I can express to take away the pain you must feel. Just want you to know that I am praying for you and along with you as you allow the Lord to walk you through this valley experience...He will bring you through one minute, one hour, one day at a time. It is comforting to know that your son is with the Lord, as precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saints and I believe that Mark is one of His and he has overcome with victory. I am here to listen but God is there and is listening. May He continue to comfort you.
